Sacred Heart Junior College students pass through the receiving line.

Danny Thomas Benefit netted over $50,000 for the new Faculty House at Sacred Heart—magnificent gift of the famous comedian through the efforts of Sister Mary Michele and the Lebanese people of this section of the United States.

MAY DAY 1960

CAROL HOTZE, our May Queen, and her court rehearsed again and again for their role; decorations were strung from poles and crepe paper danced in the breeze. And then it was upon us. With St. Leo's boys serving as a guard of honor, the Queen and her court followed the gay procession to the platform, where SOL VON PRAAG placed the crown upon our fair Queen's head.

Benefit Set For College By Comedian

TV comedian Danny Thomas will try to make the audience laugh at Ovens Auditorium in Charlotte April 22, and the proceeds of his performance will benefit the Sisters of Mercy in their building project at Sacred Heart College at Belmont.

Thomas agreed to do this show and although couldn't work it into his regular schedule, will be appearing while on vacation from his regular series on television.

He became interested in Sacred Heart when he met and talked with Sister Michel in Atlanta last summer.

Thomas is known for his help to people in need. In 1958 he broke ground for the St. Jude Hospital Foundation in Memphis. After 10 years of benefits and $2,000,000, he helped erect this research hospital to find cures for children's diseases.

Volunteer workers from North and South Carolina have worked hard to gain a capacity house for the benefit.

Celebrities in attendance will be North Carolina Bishop Vincent Waters, Gov. Terry Sanford, U. S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy, former president, of the U. N. Charles Malik and Cardinal Spellman of New York.
